NINETEEN-THIRTY ORIENT.

FOREWORD

SHOULD we say the same thing again? Does it matter what we say? Here is the 1930 Orient for your approval; the process has been repeated; the custom has been obeyed.

Years will go their way. Someday, perhaps, you will take this book from the dusty heap; then your mind will follow memory back the long, long road to Ball State. Will the book then have accomplished its purpose?

BOARD OF TRUSTEES

UNDER the careful supervision of the board of trustees Ball State Teachers College has made steady progress, and it is now recognized as one of the leading educational institutions of the state. Much credit is due these individuals who have given so much time and energy to the execution of their duties. May the faculty and students continue to give them their full support and cooperation in future undertakings.

FROM OUR PRESIDENT

“AGAIN we come to the close of another school year when tasks are laid aside and we can pause a moment to consider what the year has meant to us. Have we increased our stature of manhood and womanhood or have we, by unstable thinking or unrestrained actions, lost the better things of life and gathered for ourselves baubles that may glitter but will not wear?

“It is our hope that every faculty member and student has broadened his or her horizon this year, that each has found a larger field of usefulness for his abilities, and that one and all will, throughout the years to come, retain the inspiration and zest for life that assures to us all the opportunity for vital and useful service to society.”

L. A. PITTENGER
President

DR. RALPH NOYER

DEAN NOYER TO THE SENIORS

"BY this time you have reached the point where you can set your own problems, find your own material, and control your own time; you have learned to use your teachers as you use the libraries and the laboratories; you know that for the purpose of further learning you need not necessarily take another course, although that may often be desirable. Your general education is at an end and the period of real specialization and scholarly professional service has begun.

"It is one thing to supply the schools with mere technicians. It is quite another thing to produce even a few persons who have ideas, who know 'what it is all about,' who, in the best sense, will become educators.

"Into your equipment, whether it be bare techniques or rich ideas, the Faculty and Administration have put their best efforts in the belief that no point of excellence is too good for Indiana."

GRACE DeHORITY

DEAN DeHORITY

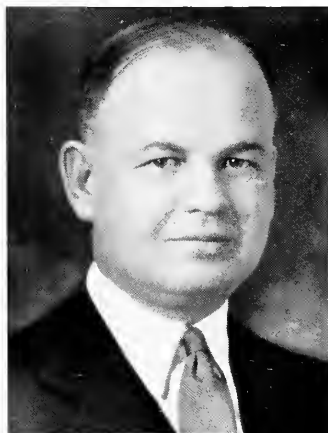

"SOME one has said that a college is a center of sacred fires at which young men and young women may light their torches and go out invigorated into the world.

"May all who come to Ball State Teachers College find the fires, light their torches, and go forth into all parts of the world and see to it that their lights shine into the dark places and dispel fear, hate, greed, ignorance, poverty, quackery, insincerity, intolerance, selfishness, and sloth. May these barriers of light supplant these evils with reliance, kindliness, generosity, courtesy, plenty, understanding, industry, wisdom, righteousness, and beauty."

DEANS OF MEN AND WOMEN

DEAN HOWICK

"IT has been a great pleasure for me, as Dean of Men, to work with you this year. Whether it has been by helping you with your social affairs or by helping you with your other problems, I have found that in all cases you have shown a desire to be fair and a desire to cooperate. Continue this attitude in your work next year and I am sure that it will help make it a pleasant and successful one."

HARRY HOWICK

IN THE OFFICE

MR. WAGONER, who came to this institution from the state department of high school inspection, has served as secretary-registrar of Ball State during the last few years. The work of arranging the schedule for the college carries with it a big responsibility, but he has handled the work very efficiently. The college is quite fortunate to have a man of Mr. Wagoner's calibre as a part of the executive force.

Mr. Clevenger, a former instructor in the commerce department, has served for some time as secretary of the credits and placement committee. He is capable of giving expert advice concerning the courses offered, and the students are very happy to have some one of Mr. Clevenger's ability and personality to whom they may go with their troubles.

Miss Trullender, associate registrar of the college, has a big responsibility in carrying out registration plans and taking care of the secretarial work. Her work in this capacity has been very efficient and accurate.

THE work in the Department of Art is outlined chiefly to meet the needs of those who wish to teach or supervise art in Indiana. Art is considered to be one of the essentials of a well-rounded and cultured life; every student in the college is given the opportunity to study art appreciation.

One of the interesting and important phases of the work of the department is that of the Kallista Art Club. The club has accomplished during the past year, in its program and work meetings, much that is valuable; and it has stimulated the interest not only of the students of art but also of the members of other departments as well.

ART — COMMERCE

M. E. STUDEBAKER, M. A.

THE Department of Commerce had enrolled during this year one hundred sixty-seven students who were either commerce specials or commerce majors.

To serve the cause of commercial education in Indiana the department fostered three distinct projects. These included the Tenth Annual Conference of Indiana Commercial Teachers, which was held February 15, 1930; the Ninth Annual Indiana Commercial Contest, which was held April 26, 1930; and the publication of the Ball State Commerce Journal, which was published in the interest of commercial education in Indiana in November, February, and May.

HARRY N. FITCH, PH. D.

IN Ball State Teachers College the Department of Education is organized to include all the work in education, psychology, and student teaching. The courses in these three fields are planned to meet the requirements for professional work in the curricula planned by the State Board of Education.

In organizing the content of these courses, the aim of the department is to help the prospective teacher individually and to give him a basis for developing a growing stock of teaching principles, attitudes, and ideals, which will enable him to have, as a teacher, experiences which are genuinely educational both for himself and the pupils who work with him.

EDUCATION — ENGLISH

THE Department of English offers two types of courses: those that are especially for English majors; and those, of an appreciative and cultural nature, that are suitable for students in general.

To English major courses open to juniors and seniors, the department has added for the coming year two two-hour courses: one on the Poetry of Robert Browning and one on the Poetry of Lord Alfred Tennyson. To appreciation and culture courses open to juniors and seniors, it has added a four-hour elective course in Contemporary American Literature. Still further increases in the number of such courses will be made as the need arises.

MARY C. PAVEY, PH. D.

THE Department of Foreign Language is giving courses in French and Latin. The department is also conducting two classes in Burris School; thus it directly unifies the work in foreign language in Burris School and the college. Fifty-seven students are working toward a major in Latin and thirty-four toward one in French.

The French students gave a dramatic and musical entertainment on January 10, 1930, in Forest Hall. The play "Le Cousin D'Amerique" was well presented under the direction of Miss Alice Goss. A well-organized Latin Club has held monthly meetings throughout the year. In March, under its auspices, "Dido and Aeneas, A Pageant Drama" was presented at convocation and before the District Latin Conference.

EDGAR A. MENK, Ph. D.

FOREIGN LANGUAGE — HOME ECONOMICS

MARY BEEMAN, M. A.

THE Department of Home Economics has expanded its program by adding a four-year special curriculum. Graduates of this curriculum meet the requirements for teaching in the vocational schools. The major is still offered, and there are elective courses for students working on other curricula. A number of students have transferred from a major to the special curriculum. Courses are also being developed for the training of institutional workers.

Home Economics in the Burris School is housed in a very up-to-date department. In addition to the foods and clothing rooms, there is a living-dining room with a unit kitchen and a well-equipped laundry adjoining.

ORVILLE E. SINK, M. A.

INDUSTRIAL Arts is a study of the ways and means by which we are efficiently supplied with the things used in daily life. This includes the study of the selection and use of articles, the care and upkeep of our possessions, the changes made in raw materials to increase their value to man, and to methods of distribution of industrial products. In learning how to select, to use, and to care for our material supplies and in learning to share in social responsibilities, we acquire some definite knowledge, some degree of skill, some habits and attitudes, and some forms of aesthetic and social appreciations. Industrial Arts is a social study; it embraces the development of intellectual and artistic ability.

INDUSTRIAL ARTS — MATHEMATICS

THE Department of Mathematics offers three types of courses. These include special methods courses, content courses for special groups not specializing in mathematics, and courses designed for students specializing in mathematics. Beginning with next fall, courses in astronomy will be added to the curriculum.

During the past few years the mathematics section of the library has been enlarged until now it is one of the best in the state.

A most interesting program has been carried on during the year by the Mathematics Club. Topics of special interest to those in the department were discussed; and the meetings, which were held on the second Wednesday in each month, were well attended.

LESLIE, H. WHITCRAFT, M. A.
(On leave of absence)

THE Department of Music offers courses which are both educational and cultural. More than one hundred students are enrolled either as music specials or music majors.

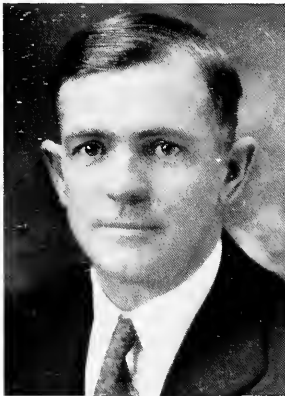

Closely connected with the department is the Music Club, which has been especially active this year. Besides holding its regular monthly meeting, it has sponsored a college song contest, the Music Festival, and "Campus Chords."

The department endeavors to maintain several active organizations, such as the band, the orchestra, the College Choir, the Madrigal Club, and the Mens Glee Club. Perhaps the crowning musical event of the year was the presentation of an oratorio, "The Creation," by Joseph Haydn.

CLAUDE E. PALMER, Ph. B.
(On leave of absence)

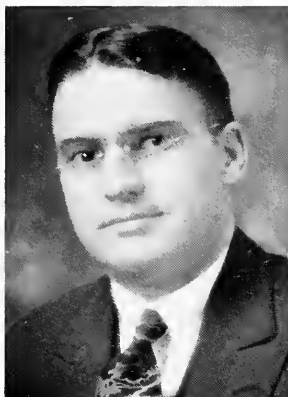

MUSIC — PHYSICAL EDUCATION

PAUL B. WILLIAMS, M. A.

FOR several years there has been a constantly growing recognition of sports, games, dancing, swimming, and athletics in the scheme of education. Most authorities have agreed that activities involving team competition of a physical nature deserve an important place in adolescent education. As a result, most of the schools have organized and promoted physical education programs; but they have found the supply of well trained teachers far short of the demand.

Ball State Teachers College, with its well-trained staff, is equipped to give adequate instruction and training in physical education, including athletics, for both men and women.

ALBERT LAFLEUR, Ph. D.

THE Department of Science offers courses in geology, geography, biology, botany, agriculture, physiology, hygiene, physics, and chemistry. The laboratories are equipped with the most modern apparatus in each field. This condition permits a corps of highly trained instructors to provide students with a philosophy of right methods of thinking as well as to train them either for responsible positions in the educational system or for more advanced work in the various graduate schools.

SCIENCE — SOCIAL SCIENCE

THE Department of Social Science offers instruction in history, political science, economics, and sociology.

The members of the department represent training in the graduate schools of Harvard University, the University of Wisconsin, the University of Illinois, Columbia University, and Indiana University.

The Clio Club, a departmental student organization with a restricted membership, has for its purpose the study of current problems of special interest to social science students. At the dinner or evening meetings, which have been held every two weeks throughout the college year, discussions were led by students or talks were given by the faculty members of the department.

BURRIS SCHOOL

THE BURRIS SCHOOL is a regular unit of Ball State Teachers College. A teacher-training institution needs its own campus laboratory school in order to function properly in the training of teachers. We are extremely fortunate through legislation and through the courtesy of the city administration of Muncie in having this school provide for the educational needs of one of the regular city school districts. It is not dependent on tuition students, neither does it select its students. This in itself gives to the school a normal group of children typical, with few exceptions, in customs, habits, and attitudes of any district in the city or of the state.

It is the duty of the school to furnish conditions through physical equipment, teaching materials, and techniques which are most favorable to the natural development of a growing child. This school assumes the responsibility of taking the child, studying his needs and permitting him to grow educationally, socially, and physically in such a way as to give him the most meaning of life. It intends to promote responsibility and self-direction in an environment that is real in every respect.

For the College, the school is a laboratory of materials and methods to which the students who are to become teachers can go to observe a teacher trained in the art of teaching children. Working in collaboration with the members of the College faculty, the teacher in the school can demonstrate principles or techniques which the members of the College faculty desire to have demonstrated. Likewise, in collaboration with the members of the College faculty, the teacher in the Burris School can lead in research and experimentation to discover newer and better methods and materials in the art of teaching children.

COLLEGE BOOKSTORE

AS you come from the corner of McKinley and University streets and walk toward the Administration Building, you will notice an iron railing and some descending steps at the southeast corner of the building. If you descend these steps and turn to the right you will find yourself in the College Bookstore. In all probability Lois Dearworth, clerk, will be behind the counter very willing to serve you. Then glance to the north of the room; there the charming smile of Mary Kitchin, assistant manager, will greet you from behind the branch post office. Crane your neck somewhat, and you will be able to see Ralph Cross, bookkeeper, busy at the desk in the back room.

The advantages offered by this addition to our school is almost beyond appreciation. The branch post office is quite a welcome feature. Who cannot, especially in summer season, enjoy an ice cold drink from the automatic cooling fountain which was installed in the summer of 1929.

The idea for this extremely valuable bookstore was conceived by Professor M. E. Studebaker in April, 1924. As a result the enterprise was intrusted to his care and the store was opened on the first floor of the Administration Building. Later it was moved to its present location. The undertaking soon paid for itself; now it has become a place much frequented by students. The student body and faculty greatly appreciate the services of the bookstore.

O. W. CRABBS

recognized this January in his appointment to the city park board. These duties, together with his business and his work with the Ball Memorial Hospital, have not lost his services to the College, as he has agreed to act as an advisor in the development of our campus.

O. W. CRABBS

MR. O. W. CRABBS merits the title of the "Grand Old Man of the Campus," for no man connected with this institution has been more loyal to it, more interested in its growth, or more faithful in its service. Now, at the age of seventy-eight, he is as active as most men of sixty years.

Last spring Mr. Crabbs resigned his position as Superintendent of Buildings and Grounds, in order that he might give his full time to that work which he loves best, landscape gardening. Since that time he has been almost completely occupied in supervising the landscaping of the Ball Memorial Hospital and the College grounds.

His special talent in this kind of work was

N. A. SCHULL

MR. N. A. SCHULL, Director of the Physical Plant, came to our campus in the spring of 1929 from Indiana Central. He had been employed in that school since his graduation there in 1921, and from 1925 to 1928 he served there as treasurer.

Since he has been on our campus, Mr. Schull has aided in making some outstanding changes in the physical plant. Under his direction the north and physical education wings of the Burris Training School were erected, and the twenty-four hour janitorial service in the Administration Building and in the Burris Training School was established.

Although Mr. Schull has been with us only a short time, he has won no small place in the hearts of the student body. He has taken an active part in the College Y. M. C. A., and he shows much interest in all extra-curricular work designed for the uplift of the student body.

SENIORS

AT LAST the seniors have reached their goal and have made their first great step in attainment of their education. Throughout the College year the Senior Class has been well represented in extra-curricular activities, and various members have made some accomplishments that are quite complimentary to the class.

The seniors have had several social events during the year that will linger in their memories for a long time. Among those that might be mentioned was the senior party at Pittenger's Cabin and the Kitchen Hop at Forest Hall. These informal affairs were well attended and everyone had a good time. All caution and dignity was laid aside and the guests joined in the revelry and fun.

During Senior Week the program consisted of baccalaureate service, class day exercises, student dinners given by various organizations, reception to the graduating class and alumni by the board of trustees and faculty, senior chapel, senior picnic, and commencement exercises.

The 1930 Senior Class can do no more for the succeeding class than to wish for it an even better year than that enjoyed by its predecessor.

THE JUNIOR CLASS

THE Junior Class of 1929-30 has truly been a class worthy of praise, considering that it began as an unorganized group very much in debt with no one seemingly very willing to shoulder his load of the burden. However, through the hard work of the officers, sponsors, and a few more spirited members, it not only wiped out the year-old debt but accumulated a neat bank account. All this was done with no great strain on any one individual. Now, at the end of the year, there are 150 proud and boastful Juniors—proud of their name and boastful of their achievements. The Junior "Whoop-it-up" Party was the first social event of the year, and in spite of the bitter cold, it proved a hot party.

With the glow of a little spark of class fire to light the way, the juniors sponsored the all-college production, "The Junior Follies of 1930." It proved to be a huge success and was enthusiastically received by the College community.

The Junior Gazette, edited by Deane Dorwin, continued the sensational successes of the class. He was ably assisted by Garnet Todd and John Lantz, associate editors. The Junior Prom closed the activities of this very successful year.

TWO-YEAR GRADS

TWO-YEAR GRADUATES

ANOTHER group of students who look forward to graduation and the completion of their work are the two-year graduates. To all students who complete a regular two-year course as prescribed by the College is issued a certificate of training as recognition of their work.

The two-year graduates comprise a large part of the student body and are usually well represented in many school activities. They have manifested a good school spirit and have worked hard for the completion of their course. As they assume their duties as teachers in various schools, we wish them success in their work and trust they will be an asset to the teaching profession. We hope they will not sever relationship with Ball State Teachers College but will return at some future time for advanced training.

THE SOPHOMORES

THE lads and lassies with important airs have deemed it worthy of their condescension to pause from the distracting whirl of their social duties and pose before the withering eye of the camera. The pose may or may not be intentional. At any rate, remember that Faith, Hope, and Charity, especially Charity ———

Having undergone the unavoidable humiliation of their freshman year, the sophs re-entered school confronted with the social and sacred obligation of impressing their successors with the diplomatic expedience of simulating extreme inferiority complexes. Whether their campaign was a complete success or not is largely a matter of conjecture. Suffice it to say that though the observer may detect very little difference in the external appearance of these hereditary rivals; nevertheless, there can be a world of superiority in feelings. "As a man thinketh in his heart, so is he."

*You can't ignore the seniors,
They are masters of the day;
And you couldn't miss the fresbies
In their funny sort of way.
But don't forget us go-betweens,
We really have a place;
And here's a smile for each of you

THE FRESHMAN

CUTE little things, aren't they? Who are they? Three guesses — right, the frosh. This fine assembly, made up of specimens of the younger generation, entered the portals of this institution in the fall of 1929, and since that time have been more or less busy in getting rid of their proverbial verdure and, incidentally, picking up a few stray crumbs of knowledge. Their success has been reasonably commendable, even though it does not offer occasion for lengthy letters to the old homestead. In fact, the casual observer might by this time experience difficulty in distinguishing the above knights and ladies of green from those lordly individuals alleged to be a class higher.

In the annual freshman-sophomore scrap held last fall the rhinies distinguished themselves by winning a majority of the events. Nevertheless, 'twas no very uncommon occurrence to have the noise, occasioned by the violent collision of a broad hickory board with delicate flesh, fall upon one's ears on various balmy evenings. Of course, it was all for the best, and the freshies realize that it hurt their tormentors even worse than it did them!

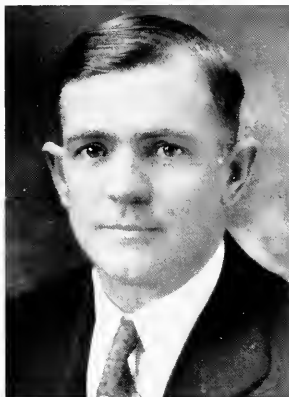

*"I wish I was a little rock
A-sittin' on a bill,
Doin' nothin' all the day
But just a-sittin' still.
I wouldn't eat, I wouldn't sleep,
I wouldn't even wash;
I'd just sit still a thousand years
And REST MYSELF, b'gosh!"*

OUR COACHES

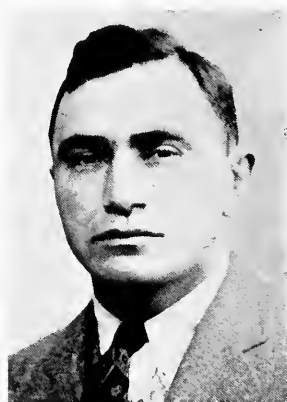

ANOTHER member of the physical education department who has been on the campus for several years is Coach Paul B. Parker. Mr. Parker has been directing the Cardinal basketball teams for five years and the gridiron men for the last two years. He is quiet in his way and gifted with an unusual amount of knowledge about athletics.

Credit goes to Lawrence McPhee for his work in the building up of intra-mural athletics. He is coach of freshmen football and basketball, and varsity tennis. As coach of varsity track, he is building up a squad of brilliant performers.

This year Scott Fisher, a graduate of Columbia, was added to the staff. He is assistant coach of football. Most of his time is spent working on the physical education program of Burris School, where his accomplishments have been many.

INTRA-MURAL ATHLETICS

THE past two years has found a growing interest in intra-mural athletics at Ball State. Though varsity men are not eligible for competition in all of the intra-mural sports, the interest shown by students is great. In basketball the Sigma's won the inter-fraternity championship while the sophomores led in the inter-class league. Bowling honors were taken by the Navajos. In track the Triangles easily outscored their strongest rivals, the Barbarians, to win the inter-fraternity meet; the sophomores proved the best in the inter-class meet. This renewed interest in intra-mural athletics was brought about through the work of Mr. Lawrence McPhee and already, as a result, material for the varsity squads has been created and strengthened.

Our varsity boys had plenty of tough luck this season, especially the football men; but why should we become discouraged at defeat? Losing games does not mean the whole story has been told. We have much to be proud of as a result of this year's athletic participations. Do we have the stamina? Our boys always fought until the games were finished; our coaches always smiled at defeat. We probably showed best what we could do in basketball. Several rhinies won awards in freshmen sports this year. See what the future has in store. Here's for a great 1930-31.

FOOTBALL

THE grid season opened with a home game against Indiana Central. The first game indicated prospects of a successful football season, although the Cardinals failed to score and the visitors succeeded in making one touchdown and the extra point. This was the first game against the Greyhounds in three years in which one team emerged as victor; the scores for the two previous years were 6-6 and 13-13. The Cardinals were more successful in gaining yardage, as was proved by the fact that the home team made nine first downs while the invaders made only five. The Greyhounds, however, succeeded in completing two of six attempted passes, while the Cardinals completed only two in thirteen attempts. The Cardinals were greatly weakened by the loss of "Jim" Leaky, veteran center, who went out early in the game with a bruised hip. Several substitutes were used throughout the game. The only score was made by Brenneman, a Greyhound, who by clever dodging, ran seventy yards for a touchdown. Let's beat that Indiana Central next year!

In the second game of the season, the Cardinals invaded the south to try their strength against the Kentuckians of Western Kentucky State Teachers College at Bowling Green. The Cardinal squad was received with true southern hospitality; and as a visit was made to Mammoth and Crystal caves, it was considered the most pleasant trip the boys have ever experienced. The strong Kentucky team scored early in the first quarter. A forward pass brought the ball from the Cardinal twenty-five-yard line to their one-yard line. Gullette then drove though the line for the first touchdown for the Kentuckians. The Cardinals managed to keep the second and third periods scoreless. A series of off-tackle plays in the fourth period allowed the Kentuckians to place the ball over the line for the second touchdown of the game. They also won the extra point when the Cardinals were declared off-side. The game ended with the score 13-0 in favor of the Kentucky teachers.

The night games were initiated on the home grid with a tough battle against the Franklin eleven. The fog, that had been heavy during the day, cleared away for the night game, but the field was left slippery. A large number of fans almost filled the bleachers, despite the somewhat inclement weather; and the brilliance of the new lighting system proved its absolute efficiency to the crowd. The Cardinals probably played one of the strongest games of the season, but the Baptists were just a little stronger, as the score indicated. Franklin was able to realize two touchdowns, while the Cardinals made only one. This was made by Liggett, and it was the first touchdown of the season. The game finally ended with the score 12-6 in favor of Franklin.

SHIVELY

The fourth game meant a fourth defeat for the Cardinals, for Danville came out as the winner. This time the defeat was one that tested the mettle of the best sportsmanship. Though the Ball State team outplayed Danville throughout the game, the Cardinals failed to conquer the Warriors through failure to make good the kick for the extra point after each touchdown. The aim of Warrior Bratton seemed to be more accurate than that of Liggett, for both of his kicks were good; and consequently the Warriors won another battle by a score of 14-12. Hodge and Smith each chalked up six points for the Cardinals, while Chet Johnson and Ivan Roetken did much to help push the ball up the field. The Warriors lived up to their name, as they sent Liggett, Smith, Roetken, Mitchell, Wiggins, and Chet Johnson to the sidelines, "wounded." Better luck next time, Cardinals.

With Indiana's horde of reserves, the Cardinals stood little chance of securing victory. It might have been that the members of the "No-Shave" club put a jinx on our boys. Anyway, the boys from the hills took to Bloomington a score of 27 and left the Cardinals only 13. The game was very even during the first part, but the Red and White boys could not keep pace with the many fresh substitutes.

Too much Notre Dame! The Irishers plucked 81 feathers from the Cardinals and left them with only 6. It was Ezra Johnson who ran 40 yards to elude Pat and Mike for a touchdown, but the Irishers took turns at making touchdowns until their score reached 81. This was quite a blow to the alumni who had congregated for Home-Coming, and we promise to do better next year.

One chance was left to win a game. This chance was ruined, however, when the DePauw Tigers clawed their way to a 46-6 victory over the prostrate bodies of the Cardinals. If those Tigers can preach like they play football, woe be unto the sinner! The game was very mediocre, with the Cardinals making one last disheartened effort to win a game against a stronger team. The outstanding feature of the game from the Cardinal viewpoint was a long pass received by Stiff and carried for a fifty yard gain. Smith made the final plunge for a touchdown. We must say that the boys played consistently throughout the season.

We have heard a great deal of discussion of this year's football season, both for and against it, but mostly against. It is true that we cannot boast of a single victory, but there are many things of which

we can rightly be proud. First of all, we are proud of those boys who faithfully stayed with the team to the finish, in spite of the repeated failures to win. We are proud of our coach, who continued his efforts when he faced more discouragement than that of merely losing the games. We are also proud of those loyal fans who backed the team until the shot of the gun in the final game. More fans attended the football games this season than in any other season.

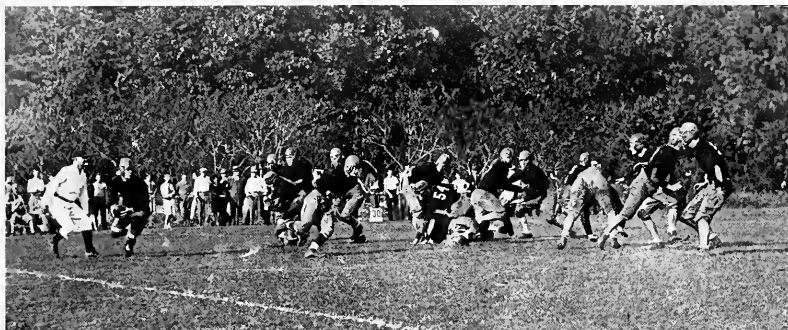

We must bear in mind that Ball State Teachers College faced a tougher grid schedule than it ever had previously. In order to break into a standing with bigger schools, it is necessary to face several defeats until we can establish a reputable standing among them. Give us time and we'll do it. Next year there will be few losses from graduation, and with this in view we are expecting more victories.

BASKETBALL

AFTER a rather discouraging football season, the Cardinals started the basketball season with a bang. The fighting spirit was maintained with a few exceptions throughout the season. With this spirit and expert coaching from Parker, the Cards were able to assume the heavy side of the score sheet, having won ten games and lost six. We are even more justified in being proud of our team when we further consider that this year's schedule was unusually difficult in that it included several strong teams.

Probably the most sensational game of the season was the first game against the Indiana B. team. The victory was within the claws of the Cardinals only to be removed in the last two minutes. The excitement of the game is shown in the score 25-23. In this opening game a valuable discovery was made in a new player, Dick.

CAPTAIN SHIVELY

On the night of December 14, the Parkermen opened their series of victories by defeating Indiana Central in the second game of the season with a score of 40-33.

The winning streak was lengthened two nights later when our boys took the measure of the fast team from Wabash with a score of 30-22. This game came as a pleasant surprise to us, as the team from the "Banks of the Wabash" was known to be a strong one. Our team, however, also proved to be a strong one.

The winning streak was somewhat broken when "Griz" Wagner's Grizzlies from Franklin devoured the Cardinals. The massive Grizzlies repeatedly broke through the defense of the Red and White for scores. The scoring of the Cards was somewhat weak both from the field and from the foul line. The game ended with a score 26-38.

The Cardinals next migrated southward to spend a part of the season. During the trip in southern Indiana they were able to annex two more victories. The first game against Evansville was quite one-sided as the score 40-8 indicates. The Cards were able to hold the Evansville Purple Aces without a field goal during the first half and with only one during the entire game. The next night offered to the Red and White more of a battle against the Oakland City Oaks. With the Oaks leading at the half 14-16, the B. S. T. C. battlers staged a rally early in the second half and won by a score of 28-26.

The third of a series of victories was won at the Ball Gym when the Parkermen defeated Valparaiso to the tune of 30-22. Despite the indication of the score, the Cards played one of the weakest games of the season.

CLY

TOLFR

Again the cruising Cards suffered defeat when they cruised to Manchester to try their mettle against the Spartans. With Chapman going strong for the opposition, our boys trailed at the half 10-11 and at the final gunshot 23-29. The game was marked by slow deliberate offense with the Spartans winning by being able to hit the hoop a little more consistently.

Our boys met probably the strongest team on the schedule in the next two games. The Danville quintet proved too much for the Cards in both games to the extent of 17-25 and 22-28. Any combination with "Bill and Ginger" Reeves is a formidable foe. With McCammon as high point man, the Cards fought bravely but vainly against heavy odds. Bill

Toler had the misfortune of dislocating an elbow in the fray.

The Evansville boys paid us a visit only again to be snowed under to the depth of 61-16. The score describes very well the type of game played.

After having been defeated by the Spartans at Manchester, the Cards came back strong to defeat the same team 34-19. This was the first game played under the direction of "Billy" Williams.

The Little Giants from Wabash came to our campus and gave us the same medicine that we gave Manchester. After having been defeated by the Cards at Wabash, the Little Giants retaliated by singeing the wings of their foe with a score of 25-37.

Again the scales were balanced when "Billy's Boys" went to Bloomington and defeated the Indiana B team 27-25. After trailing at the half 22-15, the Cards staged a brilliant second half rally and pulled the bacon out of the coals. "Effie" Harper sprinted under the basket, broke the tie, and won the game in the last minute.

Still another balancing of scores occurred when the flashing Cardinals and sturdy Grizzlies from Franklin met in the Ball "Arena" for a battle royal. The game was rough throughout with only occasional spurts of real basketball. The Baptists returned to Franklin with the small portion of a 29-25 score.

Another basketball season ended at Indianapolis when the Cardinals flitted safely in front of the Indiana Central Greyhounds taking with them a 34-31 victory. Here's to the success of the Cardinals next year.

FACING the best schedule ever prepared for a Ball State baseball squad, the Cardinals got away with a bad start to lose their first five games, but from then on things were different for Coach Williams and his men. On paper, before the season, the Cards looked to be fairly strong, though several men had been lost from the varsity by graduation last June.

With Roetken as the basis for the pitching staff Williams also had Voss Hiatt, Campbell, Watson, and Barker as moundsmen. The work of the moundsmen was strengthened at mid-spring by the addition of Estel Hiatt. Long and Shively were used as catchers, but part of the time "Shiv" played third where he has already performed three years for Ball State. Another veteran infielder was George Smith, captain of the team last year, who, besides playing second, has led the Cardinal hitting for three years.

In the infield were Liggett, Dick, Hutchison, Williams, Walker, Brammell, and Mount. Cardinal outfielders included Lindzy, Fravel, Brogneaux, and Apple.

The Cards opened their season April 11 quite impressively at Purdue when they held the Boilermakers to a 7 to 9 margin. The next day they seemed to have slumped and, as a result, Purdue marked up a 10 to 4 win. The following Tuesday the Cards journeyed to Bloomington where they had a very bad day, with Indiana winning 16 to 0. A few days later N. A. G. U. proved a jinx for the first home game and nosed out the Cards 4 to 3 by dropping two of Roetken's offerings over the fence. At Crawfordsville the following Wednesday the Cards made a bad start in a game where Eskimos might have been handy, and they lost to Wabash 14 to 7.

Finally, on Saturday the Cards, playing their second home game of the season, came through with a 3 to 2 win over Valparaiso; on Monday they dropped DePauw 6 to 4.

"BILLY"

DOPE

Prospects are even greater for a winning baseball team next year, for on the freshmen team there are several good ball players and a couple of this year's group of rhinies will be playing regular on the varsity next season. The loss of Shively, Williams, Hiatt, Smith, and Fravel will be felt, for they were five popular regulars.

With the going of these five, we shall see the entrance of Marvin Died, Hutchison, Edwards, Turner, Redding, Hinesely, and Cock-erill into the Cardinal line-up.

TRACK

THE Cardinals probably had the greatest track team this year in the history of the College. Not any brilliant individual performers, but a group of consistent point getters was the strong point of Coach Lawrence McPhee's squad. In the dashes Graham and Johnson were the leaders while Dick and Jones displayed rare form in the high and broad jumps. Barker, a find in javelin, looks good for a couple more seasons along with the remainder of the sophomores.

Something new in track was given by the Cards the evening of May 3, when they held a track meet on their illuminated field with Indiana Central, Franklin, and Earlham.

TENNIS

WHEN "Mac" issued his initial call for tennis men this season, he was not disappointed. Never before has there been such a response. More men turned out for the net squad this spring than ever before. Two men were lost by graduation last year, Wilmore and Brown, but the Cards should come back to make the best of several seasons of tennis.

With but two days outside net work this spring the Cards journeyed down to Terre Haute to open their season with Indiana State. The State men had had several weeks of open-air net work and were able to win, 1-5, after the Card "racketeers" had forced nearly every game to duce. Different scores are expected as the season progresses.

Next season Ludy and Dally will be lost, but Olsen, Martin, Richardson, McDavitt, Kaplin, and Prough should bring the Red and White to victory. Coach McPhee deserves plenty of credit for his faithfulness on the courts.

"MAC"

RESUMÉ

THE 1929-1930 season marked a great advance in the program of athletics. A fourth member, Scott Fisher, was added to the coaching staff. A step forward was the adoption of the freshmen ruling which does not permit the rhinies to participate in varsity athletics. This has placed the names of the larger colleges and universities of Indiana upon the athletic schedules of Ball State.

The big feature of the athletic year was the illumination of the athletic field last fall. Forty huge lamps, each containing a thousand watt bulb set in front of a mirrored reflector and enclosed in copper shells with glass lenses, were used to light the field. These lights were fixed four to a pole sixty feet above the ground. Illumination of the field has not only made possible night football but also this spring the lights were used for an after dusk track meet, and a circus sponsored by the physical education department.

CO-ED SPORTS

GRACE WOODY

WOMEN'S ATHLETICS

THE women's division of the Department of Physical Education still continues its program of dancing, sports, games, and plays. The department has expanded noticeably in the number of activities offered; now the chances for extra-curricular activities are much greater. Many women students interested in extra work desire the courses offered in stunts and tumbling. Important class issues have been found in soccer and hockey as well as in W. A. A. competitive contests.

This season a telegraphic track meet was a new venture for the department. The circus which was held under the lights of the athletic field was a departure from the traditional Greek Games, sometimes known as the May Festival or Pageant. This was the culminating event of the year. This presentation engaged both men and women and, thereby, increased the number of those who usually participate in the spring program.

The students have not only been engaged in the above-mentioned courses and events but have also been active participants in women's baseball, basketball, volley ball, archery, gymnastics, and track.

The growth in this department has been due to the fine efforts of Grace Woody, head of the women's department, Regina Frank, and Viola Bryson. Ruth Kelley, who had been with the department for some time, was assigned to Burriss School when Miss Woody came back in the winter term. Helen Caffin, a new member of the division, was also assigned to Burris early in the year. These women have been very efficient in promoting co-ed sports.

The social side of the departments program is to be found in the Womens Athletic Association which was founded on this campus in 1924. This organization is now affiliated with the national group, the Athletic Conference of American College Women. This organization now has more than a hundred leading colleges and universities as members. It is not merely a social group, as its purpose to foster an interest in leisure time activities and to create an attitude of "play for play's sake" will show.

Archery has aroused the attention of the girls in recent years. This enthusiasm was started on the campus in 1927 when more than 300 girls enrolled in archery classes. The contests which are sponsored by the department make archery a very interesting activity for girls.

Volley ball was first introduced into the role in 1926, and since that time the sport has been one thoroughly enjoyed by most of the College girls. Basketball is another sport not passé among the girls. Skill and joy in play is the aim conceived in this activity. Scoring and winning are not outstanding features.

BASKETBALL

THE PAGEANT

Early in the spring the girls organize baseball squads and throughout the rest of the season they continue this phase of participation.

Tennis has made rapid progress and the girls probably engage in this activity more than in any other. Our girls now compete in intercollegiate meets.

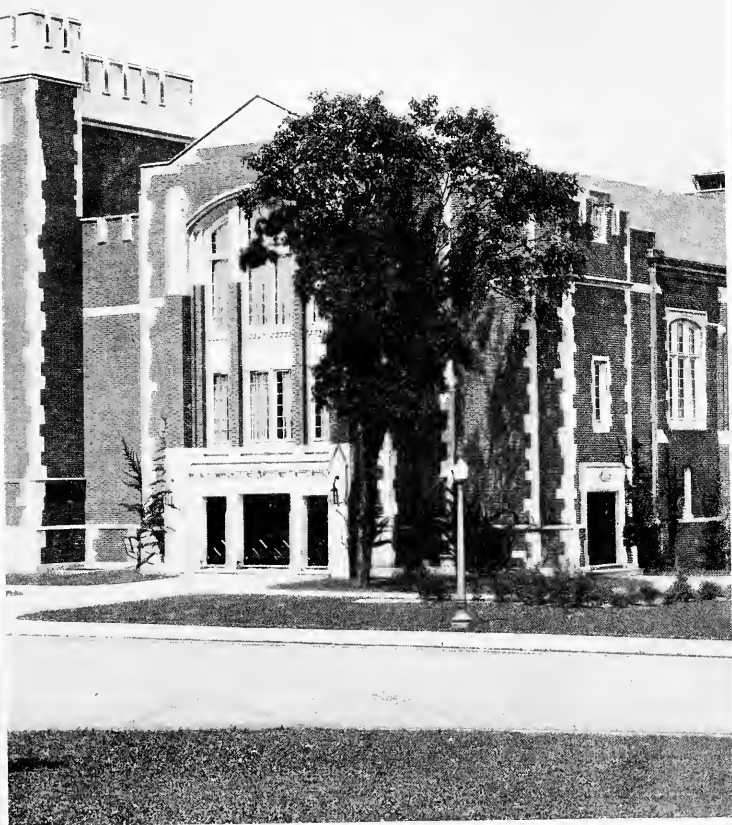

Men become so interested in their major sports that they often neglect to appreciate the activities of the fairer sex. Let us not forget that Ball State's athletic department for women is up and coming.

PUBLICATIONS

FROM THE EDITOR

FRIENDS, what a pleasure it has been to prepare this 1930 Orient, the annual publication of the senior class! In the pursuit of this production I have made many new and interesting acquaintances, and have made contacts and relationships that can never be severed. Whenever I recall the year that I was a senior at Ball State I will be reminiscing the happiest year of my youth. I hope, dear reader, that you may be one with whom this acquaintance has been made and this close friendship shared.

This is far from being a perfect annual — the whole class realizes that, but we have done our utmost to make it as nearly the ideal as possible. If you find your name misspelled or even left out, or your picture missing or in the wrong section, or if you find your picture is not beside the person you liked best, remember that it was not intentional but just another mark of the weakness of men — another mistake.

I wish to take this opportunity to thank the members of the 1930 Orient staff for their faithful cooperation. They have been willing and ready to assist at all times. Especially do I wish to recognize Roma Hayworth, associate editor, for her extreme devotedness to the preparing of this publication.

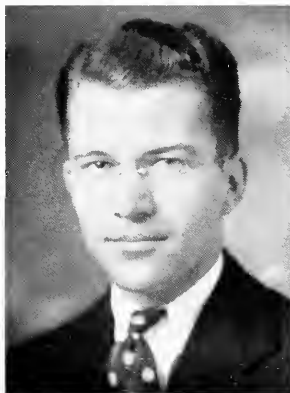

The efforts of Bartlett Brooks, the Delaware Engraving Company, the Scott Printing Company, the David Malloy Company, members of the business administration of the College, Miss Maude Wells, Miss Huelda Davis, Miss Thelma Moore, Jewel Standerford, Mildred Ayers, Velma Sherry, Anna Marie Yates, and Edith Croft are to be recognized and appreciated in this manner.

Now — if you like the book, blame the staff; if you don't like it, blame the editor.

THE EASTERNER

SINCE The Easterner was first published in 1922 as the official news sheet of Ball State Teachers College, it has grown steadily from the small magazine-sized, four-column paper to the present one measuring 16 by 22 inches with seven columns. As an indication of its progress the paper was awarded the First Class Honor Rating in this year's National Scholastic Press Association All-American Critical Service. This is the second consecutive year such an award has been given to the Easterner.

Each week for thirty-six weeks the members of the editorial staff work diligently to garner all the news on the campus and never yet has the result of their labors failed to make its appearance in order to satiate the news-appetite of its readers. During one week of the thirty-six these same staff members seek relief from their many and pressing duties by issuing the dreaded "Yellow Peril," that epitome of yellow journalism, in which campus notables receive their full due.

SUMMER STAFF

EACH year certain courageous members of the student body of Ball State Teachers College take upon themselves the weighty and perplexing task of issuing the summer editions of The Easterner. For ten long weeks these people work to fill the columns of the paper at a time when news is scarce, and until now their labors have gone unpraised and unsung. PI OMEGA PI

A National Honorary Commerce Fraternity

XI CHAPTER of Pi Omega Pi was installed at Ball State College December 6, 1929, with the following ten charter members: Dorcie Clark, Mary Findling, Lena Jackson, Helen Shaw, Marie Walker, Anna Marie Yates, Alberta Kappeler, Miss Esther Debra, B. M. Swinford, and M. E. Studebaker. Dorothy Kantner, Thelma Gruver, Elizabeth Black, and William Ross became eligible at the time the installing officers came and were initiated with the charter members. Ralph Boyd, president of the Eta chapter at the Illinois State Normal University, and Professor Arthur Williams, head of the commerce department, were the installing officers. Six members have since been added, four of whom are alumni: Laurretta Gfeller, V. H. Carmichael, Verna Page, Fern Branson, Winifred West, and Kreszentia Siegwart.

Pi Omega Pi is a national honorary commerce fraternity and stands for fine character and high ideals as well as for high scholastic standing. College activities are of keen interest to its members.

A banquet held at the Hotel Roberts completed the formal initiation. President Pittenger and Dean Noyer were the guest speakers of the evening and responses were made by Mr. Studebaker and Dorothy Kantner.

EPSILON PI TAU

EPSILON PI TAU is a new educational honorary fraternity in the field of industrial arts. Its purpose is three-fold; namely, to recognize the need for and the attainment of technical skill, to foster social efficiency, and to create a desire for research.

It is through skill of hand, eye, and brain that the world's work is done. Technical skill has made it possible for man to make from the materials available those tools and implements which have made him master of the universe.

Social efficiency enables one to live with his fellow men. It helps him to realize that man profits most when the interests of the whole group are furthered rather than when a selfish personal interest prevails.

"Back of the beating hammer, by which the steel is wrought,
Back of the workshop's clamor the seeker may find a thought;
The thought that is ever Master of iron and steam and steel,
That rises above disaster and tramples it under its heel.
The drudge may fret and tinker, or labor with lusty blows,
But back of him stands the thinker, the clear-eyed man who knows.

Light of the roaring boiler, force of the engines thrust,
Strength of the sweating toiler, greatly in these do we trust;
But back of him stands the schemer, the Thinker who drives things through,
Back of the job the Dreamer, Who's making the dream come true."

MUSIC

DEPARTMENT OF MUSIC

PROFESSOR BIRCHARD COAR, acting head of the music department, has done a great deal this year to raise the standards and add to the success of the various musical organizations on this campus.

The band, orchestra, College Choir, and Mens Glee Club have all grown in reputation to equal the new standards of the College. With the help of these organizations the Music Club, under Mr. Coar's direction, presented an oratorio, "The Creation," by Josef Haydn. They also presented the second annual production of "Campus Chords." This musical revue with its appropriate scenery, clever specialties, and excellent music, was a fitting climax to a most successful year's program.

COLLEGE CHOIR

THE College Choir was organized in 1928 under the direction of Professor Palmer. The Choir has appeared on many programs this year where sacred music has been required.

The purpose of this organization is to create and establish a love and appreciation for the best and foremost sacred choral music.

Under Professor Coar's leadership programs have been given in churches, special student worship services, and at convocation. During the Easter season this organization did a great deal in helping the choirs of this community with their lenten programs. The choir also gave its full co-operation in the presentation of Haydn's oratorio, "The Creation."

MENS GLEE CLUB

THE Mens Glee Club was organized on this campus January 3, 1929 under the helpful guidance of Professor Palmer. This year this new organization has perhaps been one of the most successful of the music organizations.

The Mens Glee Club has as its purpose the production of an ensemble that can give concerts in and about Ball State Teachers College that will give credit to its members and to the College. This year they have accomplished their purpose not only through their concert work but through their splendid co-operation with the other music organizations in the presentation of "The Creation" and "Campus Chords." It is hoped that the Mens Glee Club will be even more outstanding next year.

MADRIGAL CLUB

THE Madrigal Club was organized in 1924. At the present time Miss Pauline Kirk is conducting the organization. The Madrigal Club, as a singing organization for women, is affiliated with the State Federation of Music Clubs.

This organization, not only one of the outstanding choral societies in this community but in the state, has appeared on many programs this year. At Christmas time the club sang in choral costumes at the special meetings held by the Kiwanis, Rotary, and Business and Professional Women's Clubs. They also had charge of the special convocation for National Music Week. In November the club sang for the state meeting of superintendents at the Hotel Lincoln.

B S. T. C. BAND

THE band was organized in the fall of 1925 when Professor Claude E. Palmer was added to the faculty. This year the band has been under the direction of Professor Coar and it has enjoyed one of its usual successful programs.

Whenever some pep or loyal support is needed, the band is always there doing its share of the boosting. The band not only lends spirit to a celebration or a parade but it also adds to the looks—it really is good-looking with its maroon-colored uniforms and strutting drum major.

This year the band played at all the football and basketball games. It led the parade at Home-Coming and other festivals; it has played at banquets, and has done some broadcasting. The band has been one of the College's best advertisers.

THE College Orchestra was organized in 1920. It holds daily rehearsals in music hall under the direction of Professor Coar. This year the orchestra has grown to include all the symphonic instruments. Perhaps one of its most outstanding activities was its accompaniment to the oratorio — this was a splendid piece of work.

The orchestra is one of the music organizations that helps many times with banquets, programs, and convocation on the campus; it is often called upon to help with city organization programs. The orchestra well deserves its place as one of the outstanding campus organizations.

“THE CREATION”

(An oratorio by Haydn)

WITH the purpose in mind of offering the city and student body something better in the way of musical attractions, Haydn's great oratorio, “The Creation,” was presented in the Assembly Hall, February 26, by members of the music department. A mixed chorus of more than one hundred voices, accompanied by a symphony orchestra of thirty-five pieces, appeared in the production and performed in a very creditable manner. Solo parts were taken by Estelle Andrews, soprano, a student; Donn Murray, basso, and E. Kinney Miller, tenor. Mr. Murray and Mr. Miller were both members of the choir and quartet of the High Street Methodist Church of Muncie.

To Professor Birchard Coar, acting head of the Department of Music, much of the credit for this production is due. The oratorio, a sacred work depicting in music the account of the creation given in Genesis, was the first ever presented in this school and occasioned a vast amount of practice and some expense. If another precedent has been established students of this school have just cause to congratulate themselves.

DRAMA and FORENSIC

MISS DEBRA

ESTHER DEBRA

MISS ESTHER DEBRA has done a great deal to create a greater interest in dramatics at Ball State and to raise the standard of dramatic productions on the campus. She has created among the students with whom she has worked a desire to give to the school and the public more interesting, more entertaining, and more worthwhile productions.

During the two years she has been here, Miss Debra has directed many of the dramatic activities on the campus. "The Boomerang," given by members of the Junior Class, 1929, was the first play she coached at Ball State. This was an outstanding success.

This year the amusing comedy, "Meet the Wife," the initial play of the Spotlight Club, of which Miss Debra is sponsor, met with great approval. During the year the Spotlight Club also gave a one-act play entitled "The Light That Jailed" before the Exchange Club. Later this play was broadcasted over WLBC, Muncie, under Miss Debra's direction.

"Hooks and Crooks" was given at convocation by members of Pi Omega Pi, of which Miss Debra is a member. This comedy, taken from the business world, was also given at the Hotel Roberts before the state commercial contestants.

The crowning success of the year's dramatics was the "Junior Follies of 1930," of which Miss Debra was the director. This production was one of the outstanding events of the school year in the way of entertainment.

THE JUNIOR FOLLIES OF 1930

UNDER the sponsorship of the Junior Class, the Junior Follies of 1930, a revue of dance, song, and drama, was given at the Masonic Temple, Thursday evening, March 27. The plot for the Follies was written by Robert Hamilton, a former student of Ball State Teachers College. Mr. Hamilton wrote it especially for the Junior Class.

Three original songs were written for the play. "My Co-Ed Sweetheart" was the original theme song. This and "Don't Ever Worry" were composed by Carl Hofer, pianist. "Coke Tyme" was composed by Carl Noble, director of the orchestra. Popular songs that fit into the general theme were also used.

Special dances by both boys and girls choruses included: Freshmen and Senior chorus; Green-Eyed Monster chorus; "Lucky Little Devil"; "If Romeo Would Roam My Way"; "College Moon", by a group from the Royerton High School; "I Found Something"; Football Chorus, and "Congratulations."

Between the scenes and acts specialties were given by Lois Slone, Ellen Stafford, Ed. Olsen, Helene Koons, and Robert Eller. A juvenile dance was given by Jean Jones and Roy DeArmond of Anderson.

Miss Mary Jo Pittenger coached the cast and Miss Esther Debra had general supervision of the production. The general committee from the Junior Class which managed this production was:

Faye Hall, General Chairman
Marjorie Carlton, Advertising
Vivian Duncan, Costumes

James Leakey, Properties
Marcella Wimmer, Music
Hilton Spenceley, Dancing

"MEET THE WIFE"

IN "Meet The Wife," a comedy in three acts by Lynn Starling, the Spotlight Club gave a performance not to be easily excelled by any dramatic organization of amateur or professional standing. The play, although rather typical of the modern farce, was undeniably clever, liberally interspersed with puns and "wisecracks." The main theme dealt with the hectic life of a pretty young celebrity worshipper who, having lost a husband in the San Francisco earthquake, rather advisedly took unto herself another spouse, only to have her first mate turn up, at her own invitation, as Phillip Lord, a London novelist.

Mary Greene, as the lady, gave a very clever interpretation and was ably assisted by James Zedekar as the former husband-celebrity and Erchie Castor as the novelist's successor. Hilton Spenceley as the vapid young man with an art complex was at his best while Herman Campbell as a reporter, and Naomi Agans as the daughter of a suburban lady, furnished the conventional romance. Helene Koons took the part of the maid, and Robert Eller portrayed the butler.

"DIDO AND AENEAS"

THE presentation of the Vergilian pageant, "Dido and Aeneas," at the annual conference of the Latin teachers of the eighth district, was an achievement worthy of very commendable notice. The tragedy of the hapless Dido, Carthaginian queen, and her Trojan lover, which Vergil immortalized in his "Aeneid," written almost two thousand years ago, was portrayed in dramatized form most successfully by members of the Latin department, coached by Miss Viletta Baker.

Sarah Durham and Robert Milhollin took the roles of Dido and Aeneas. Other leading characters were portrayed by Harriett Scott, Marie Blake Walker, William Ross, Mary Noble, Garl Minniear, Robert Gibson, Marcella Millikan, Jewell Gordon, Catherine Weidler, and Catherine Cloud.

DEBATING — PAST AND PRESENT

NO college traditions are recalled, by the student of a generation ago, with greater pleasure or more genuine sentiment than those traditions that grew out of the college literary debating societies. In those by-gone days such weighty questions as "Resolved: That the pen is mightier than the sword," or "Resolved: That Washington was greater than Columbus," were debated with a zealous ardor that was equaled only by the fiery eloquence of the participants. Hypnotized by their own oratory, the debators often continued their harangues until midnight, when they were ushered from the hall by the janitor, who put out the lights, locked the door, and shuffled his way home, muttering something about college students never knowing when it was time to go to bed.

We do not propose that modern college debating should revive the old traditions. However, the training in public speaking and in organizing material afforded by debating practical questions of public interest is especially valuable and interesting to the student who is preparing to teach. Contacts between our students and those of other schools in the Intercollegiate League provide experiences which will be recalled by our generation with a satisfaction equal to that afforded by the recollections of the past generation.

DEBATING — 1929-1930

"RESOLVED: That a lake-to-lake waterway for ocean-going vessels should be constructed through the St. Lawrence via Montreal" was the subject chosen for debate by the Indiana Intercollegiate Debating League this year. Ball State Teachers College has been a member of this league since the year 1926 - 1927 and, as one of the members of the league, was scheduled to participate in two triangular debates. In the first triangular debate, March 7, Indiana State Teachers College, Franklin College, and Ball State debated. The Ball State affirmative team was defeated at Muncie by Indiana State Teachers College and the Ball State negative team met defeat at the hands of the Franklin team at Franklin. On March 20, in the second triangular debate, between Earlham College, Manchester College, and Ball State, the Ball State negative team, with revised tactics, defeated the Earlham affirmative at Muncie. The following day the Ball State affirmative team lost a closely contested debate with Manchester College at North Manchester. The courtesy with which the Ball State teams were received by Franklin and Manchester is much to the credit of these schools and to the debating league, and is certain to lead to closer relationships between schools belonging to the league.

The Ball State teams were ably coached by Professor Shirley D. Babbitt of the English department. The administration of Ball State College is to be commended for its generous support, which has made this college activity possible.

CO-ED DEBATING

THIS year for the first time in the history of our College we can boast of a Women's Debating Team. Several women interested in debating and public speaking took the course in debating and then, with the help of Shirley D. Babbitt of the department of English and backed by the administration, organized a team.

The question debated was "Resolved that the chain store system is detrimental to the best interests of the American people". Ball State Teachers College was represented by only one team, which debated the negative side of the question.

Our team met the affirmative team of Indiana Central before a large crowd in the Assembly Hall. J. C. Kelley, head of the Department of Speech at Franklin College, acting as critic judge, awarded the decision to the Ball State team.

A debate scheduled for March 26 with Franklin College was postponed because of impassible roads. It was inconvenient to hold the debate later, so it was cancelled.

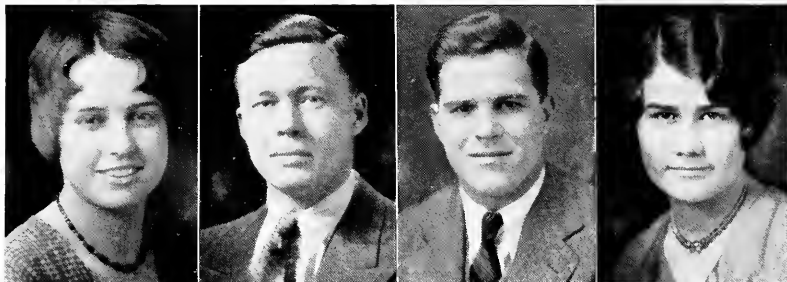

The team provided the program for the regular meeting of the Advertising Club Friday, April 11. Miss Clark and Miss Whitehead debated the affirmative side of the question while Miss Wilson and Miss Bing upheld the negative arguments.

The last debate was held at Hagerstown High School, April 16, where our team met and defeated the team from Earlham College. The faculty of the high school served as judges.

It is hoped that next year more women will be interested in debating so our College can have two teams to continue the splendid record made by the team this year.

BOOSTER CLUB

THE BOOSTER CLUB was founded in 1921 by Professor Sink of the industrial arts department, its purpose being to promote school spirit and activities.

The chief aim of the club this year was to convince the students and townspeople that Ball State is a college of which we may well be proud.

Perhaps the greatest achievement of the club this year was the Home-Coming program. The club's yell contest was won by Harold McCammon and John Mook. The inter-fraternity "Yell Squad," an innovation sponsored by the Booster Club, was the pep center at all athletic events. With the aid of the athletic committee, Morris Richardson and John Marshall were selected and equipped as yell leaders. The Home-Coming Day tag sale contest was won by the Lambda Sigma Chi fraternity.

Sponsors for the club are M. E. Studebaker and Dean DeHority.

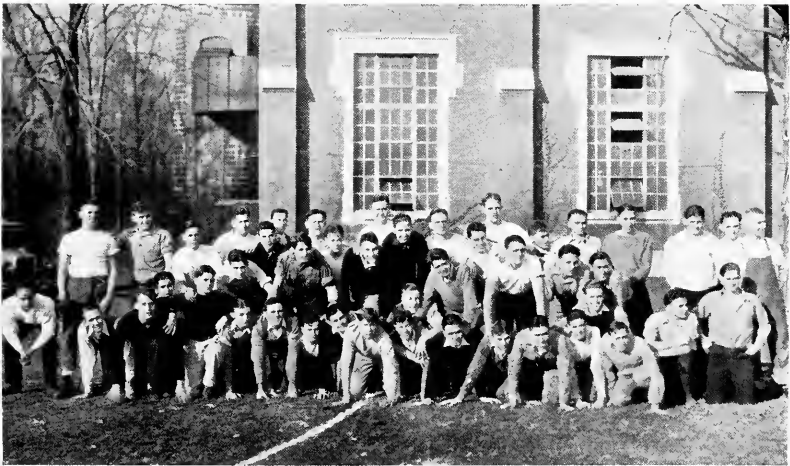

BONFIRE

HOME-COMING

The 1929 Home-Coming was one of the most successful events ever held on this campus. The big pep session held in the men's gymnasium on Wednesday terminated in an avalanche of noise and enthusiasm.

The bonfire, parade, and "Rivoli Rush" held on Friday claimed the attendance of hundreds of students. The largest number of alumni ever to return for Home-Coming registered on Saturday morning. The afternoon was well occupied by the annual class scrap, in which the freshmen were victorious. In the evening the various campus organizations entertained the alumni at the hotels, clubs, and cafeterias.

After the football game with the Notre Dame Reserves, the Pagans of Indianapolis struck up the first number of the annual Home-Coming Dance, which was attended by a crowd which filled the men's gymnasium.

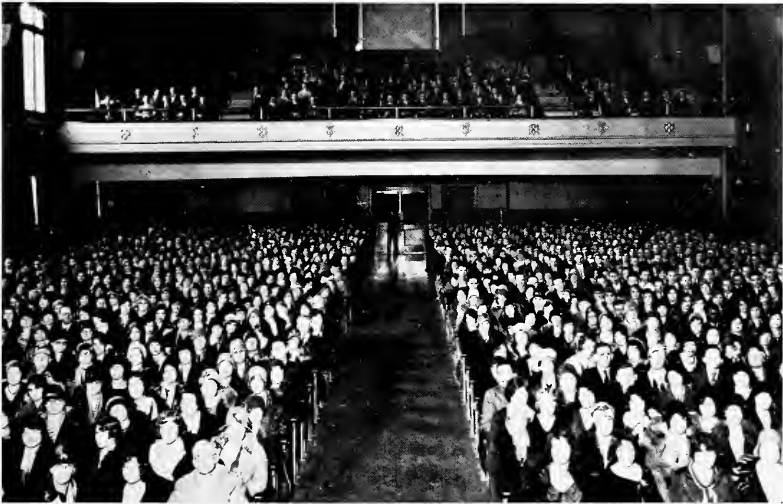

SOPHOMORES

MOTHERS DAY

FRIDAY, February 14, was a big day in every way for students of this College, for on that date several hundred mothers, those who have helped make this institution possible, were guests of their sons and daughters and of the whole student body and faculty.

A special convocation in the forenoon was arranged for the benefit of the mothers. This was followed by a sightseeing tour of the campus, after which most of the sororities and fraternities entertained with luncheons. A tea and reception at Forest Hall was included in the afternoon program and the grand finale came with the great all-college banquet held in the Masonic Temple that evening.

STATE COMMERCIAL CONTEST

THE ninth annual Indiana State High School Commercial Contest was held at Ball State Teachers College April 26, 1930. Two hundred thirty-seven high schools were entered in twenty-one district centers on April 12 to determine the winners to represent the various districts at the state contest. This enrollment was a forty per cent increase over the previous year. Contests were given in typewriting, shorthand, and bookkeeping. An open test in penmanship was added at the state. These contests are held annually as a motivating influence for better work in the commercial departments of the high schools of Indiana. From the enthusiasm displayed by both teachers and pupils, the contests have, beyond doubt, provided improved methods of instruction which result in a better finished product being turned out by the Indiana high schools.

MERITORIOUS WORK

MARY BERTHA

MISS MARY BERTHA of Gary was awarded a portable and a standard typewriter by the Royal Typewriter Company for writing eighty-five words per minute for fifteen minutes without error. The portable was awarded for record made in competition with all students in typewriting in the state of Indiana for the four-months' period ending December, 1929.

This was the fifth Royal Portable and second Royal Standard to be won by students in the Department of Commerce of Ball State. Anna Marie Yates of Anderson is the only other student to win both portable and standard Royals, which she won during 1928-1929.

Miss Bertha also received a sapphire pin from the Underwood Typewriter Company for writing ninety-seven words per minute for fifteen minutes in the December, 1929, monthly test. This award was presented to Miss Bertha by Mr. George Hoss-field, world champion typist, at the annual conference in February.

Numerous other awards which have been won by students at Ball State indicate the high standard set for students in the typewriting classes.

BECAUSE WE WENT TO PRESS

WE breathe a sigh of relief when the last copy goes to press, but even then, all the activities of the current school year have not been recorded here. In order that the annual be ready for distribution before commencement day we must set the deadline for pictures and copy early in the spring. This necessarily means that some events have been left out of this yearbook.

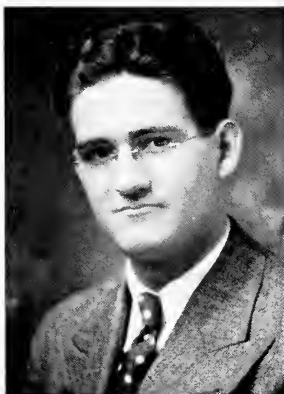

"Dads Day" of May 6 is one of the activities not recorded. "Ghosts", a production of Henrik Ibsen is not to be found mentioned in the dramatic section. It was given on May 22 and was quite well received. The results of the baseball, track, and tennis contests cannot be listed. The much looked forward to circus, sponsored by the women's physical education department, proved to be a wow!—if we could only show you some of those scenes presented under the floodlights on that occasion! The circus substituted for the pageant that has previously been an annual May event. In the meantime, other interesting features will have taken place and we only wish we could insert them here. Nevertheless, this has been a great old year at Ball State and the imaginations and memories stimulated by what is to be found in this annual will serve to keep our Alma Mater in a beloved portion of our hearts.

MRS. SHARLEY DEMOTTE, chairman of the publications committee, because of her untiring interest which she has so often manifested throughout the year. The Easterner editor joins with the Orient editor in expressing a deep appreciation for her splendid help. The administration should also wish to approve of such recognition because of the publicity that Mrs. DeMotte has given Ball State College through newspaper and magazine writings. Her charming personality, her winning smile, her hearty "good morning," her interest in students, and her interest in publications should cause us all to join in this manner of showing that we appreciate her sincere and faithful devotion to her work.

DWIGHT OVERCASH because it is to him we owe the thanks for the pictures in this annual. Mr. Overcash is responsible for every picture that is to be found in this publication with the exception of the individual pictures. It is no little task to sacrifice your time and pleasure and go out and take a picture just because the editor wanted it at that certain time. Many a night and even on Sundays did our photographer work in the dark room in order that this review might serve for your pleasure. Now, when you turn through this memory book, pause to appreciate the worthy efforts of Dwight. We commend him on his pictures.

1929-1930 AT BALL STATE

THE year 1929-1930 may surely be recorded as one of the most successful in the history of Ball State Teachers College, and one fully in keeping with the progressive program outlined and carried through by faculty, student body, and school backers. The campus and its buildings saw not a few improvements of a material nature in addition to the more abstract gains in rating and influence.

The Burris Training School, dedicated recently on May 9, has been a most important and flourishing part of the institution since opened last fall. The splendid new building, constructed at a cost of approximately $390,000, is no small aid in the beautification of the campus. The comparatively ancient Administration Building displayed a refurbished interior to students returning here last fall. On the third floor a number of small practice rooms were constructed for the benefit of budding devotees of the art of music, together with a large auditorium for the rehearsals of the more bulky ensemble groups, including the orchestra, band, and choruses. Roomy commercial and art rooms were put in use by students of those departments at the beginning of the year. These improvements were made on the second floor, while on the first the office of the president was completely and tastefully enlarged, remodeled, and refurbished.

The art gallery, situated in the library, was the recipient of many excellent collections and exhibits during the year. Many excellent works of art have also been loaned from the Ball collection and are hanging on the walls of Assembly Hall and other places coming most under the eyes of the world. An imported mosaic of the Leonardo Da Vinci's painting, "The Last Supper," is one of the outstanding contributions from Mr. Frank Ball.

In a cultural and aesthetic way, students of this College have had much of benefit placed at their disposal. To the annual presentation of "Campus Chords" the music department added the most praiseworthy production of Haydn's oratorio, "The Creation." The junior class set a precedent hard to follow in their "Follies of 1930." The lyceum course presented some very good programs on its bill during the year. Probably the outstanding numbers were the Cossack Chorus and Henry Turner Bailey.

While the exploits of the gridiron warriors left something to be desired, the achievements of the basketball team was all that any one could hope for, and the baseball and track aggregations have thus far achieved some notable victories. Indeed, one is tempted to believe that if this school passes through every year with as much success and improvement as the year 1929-1930, the future of the institution is assured.

NAVAJOS

THE Navajo Club again entered with full force into the campus activities of 1929-1930. Without doubt, the club has accomplished more during this year than it has during any year since the organization was founded on December 23, 1920. The Navajos have continued to stress scholarship, fellowship, participation in various campus activities, and co-operation with College officials.

The new Navajo home, 219 N. Calvert, has done much to strengthen the fellowship of the members and to give to the club a spirit of independence and responsibility.

The outstanding events of the year were the convocation program on March 19, victories in the inter-fraternity bowling and track contests, the spring formal, the Navajo and Lambda Delta Phi dance, the spring formal banquet, the Mothers Day Luncheon, the work of the Navajo Deputation Team, and the furnishing of a goodly number of campus officers. The Navajo Quartet, which was the only male quartet to represent the College, gave short programs on various occasions. The main quartet feature was the entertainment given over WLBC.

It is our intense desire to make each new year bigger than the last. We wish to acknowledge those who have helped us reach our goals.

THE Triangle Club was organized February 16, 1922, with eighteen charter members. The organization was incorporated as a state institution August 19, 1926. The Triangle Club Alumni Organization was created in October, 1928 and, at present, has an active personnel of one hundred ninety members.

The purpose of the club is to create and perpetuate a spirit of good will and fellowship and to co-operate with the faculty, student body, and alumni in the advancement of the interests of Ball State Teachers College. The desire of the club is to have each member and pledge meet the problems of college life and to solve these problems as befits college men.

The club has participated in the inter-fraternity basketball, bowling, and baseball leagues; and has given banquets on Home-Coming, Mothers Day, and Dads Day. Two spring dances were held this year.

SCHOLARSHIP, brotherhood, and equality are ideals which this fraternity endeavors to keep before its members. It was organized in the fall of 1926 and, hence, is next to the youngest fraternity on the campus.

This organization has steadfastly aided all movements, not necessarily for its own betterment, but for a better Ball State. Its endeavors have been rewarded by an almost phenomenal growth. Like many worthwhile organizations this club has received a nickname and is now familiarly called the "Delts."

Many worthwhile enterprises have been undertaken by this group of versatile young men since the last edition of the Orient, but they consider their annual dinner-dance held on May 25, 1930, as their crowning achievement of the year.

SIGMA TAU GAMMA

OMICRON chapter of Sigma Tau Gamma, formerly Lambda Sigma Chi fraternity, is the first national social fraternity on the campus. Formal announcement was made at a smoker, and installation took place at the Hotel Roberts on Friday and Saturday, April 25 and 26 this year. The organization was founded under the name of Lambda Sigma Chi fraternity in the fall of 1928. Sigma Tau Gamma, founded at Warrensburg State Teachers College, Warrensburg, Missouri, in May, 1920, is the oldest and largest national social fraternity of its kind.

The chapter has been especially active in scholastic affairs, and in sports, won the interfraternity basketball championship this year.

ALPHA

ALPHA sorority was founded in 1898 at Indiana State Teachers College, Terre Haute, Indiana, as a section of the Girls Club. Beta chapter at Muncie was founded in 1920 with eleven charter members.

The purpose of the organization is to encourage scholarship, to further the spirit of fellowship and good will among the students, and to support whatever pertains to the welfare of the College.

During the year Alpha has sponsored a great many social festivities. Among these are several bridge parties, a tea at the Country Club, a dinner at Shady Oaks, Home-Coming and Mothers Day luncheon at the Y. W. C. A., and the formal initiation and banquet at the Y. W. C. A. The social activities of the sorority were climaxed by the Stellar Spring Formal, April 19, at the Hotel Roberts.

The year 1929-1930 has been an unusually successful one for the sorority, and the members hope to make next year even more outstanding.

DELTA SIGMA ATHLETA

BETA CHAPTER of the Delta Sigma sorority was installed on this campus in 1926. Alpha chapter was organized at Indiana State Teachers College, Terre Haute, in 1905.

The purpose of the organization is to promote loyalty to school, loyalty to friends, and loyalty to self.

The most outstanding activity is the week's vacation which Delta Sigmas spend together at the lake. Other activities are a dinner for alumnae at Home-Coming; a Delta Sigma Home-Coming in May, which includes a formal, a slumber party, a breakfast, and a rose dinner; luncheon on Mothers day; a Christmas party at the home of Mrs. Thompson, and an April Fool party at the home of Mrs. Wagoner.

KAPPA KAPPA

THE ALPHA CHAPTER of the Kappa Kappa sorority was organized at Indiana State Teachers College in April, 1907. In 1922 the Beta chapter was organized on this campus.

The purpose of the Kappa Kappa sorority is to give material aid to its members, to form a true and lasting bond of sisterhood among them, and to promote any undertaking that is for the betterment of the College.

Many outstanding events have been sponsored by the sorority during the school year of 1929-30. Some of these events were two rush parties during the fall term, an alumnae banquet on Home-Coming, a Hallowe'en party given by the pledges, a Christmas party, formal initiation at the Hotel Roberts, a Mothers Day luncheon, an informal tea given for every organized girl and patroness on April 6 (which is to become an annual event), the spring formal at the Hotel Delaware, and the farewell banquet for the graduating members.

MU ZETA

BETA CHAPTER of Mu Zeta was founded at Ball State Teachers College in 1921 by an installation committee from the Alpha chapter at Terre Haute. The Alpha chapter was founded November 25, 1905. Alumnae chapters have been formed in Terre Haute and Muncie, as well as a state organization in Indianapolis.

Originally, the primary interest of the club was music, but, as the years passed, this interest broadened to include other departments.

Mu Zeta stands for high ideals, both social and moral, for a high standard of scholarship, and for the creation of a spirit of friendship among the women students of the school.

Among the outstanding activities of the sorority during the year were a luncheon at Indianapolis for Alpha and Beta chapters during the State Teachers Convention, a luncheon on Mothers Day, a slumber party and breakfast at the Hotel Roberts on Home-Coming, a Doll's Dance, an informal dancing party called a Heart Throb Hop, a May breakfast, a formal tea, and an annual spring ball.

BETA CHAPTER of the Pi Zeta sorority was installed on this campus in 1920 under the supervision of Miss Verna E. Humphreys. The Alpha chapter was founded at the Indiana State Teachers College, Terre Haute, in 1904. Both Muncie and Fort Wayne have alumnae chapters.

The purpose of this sorority is to perpetuate life-long friendships and to encourage scholastic attainment.

This fall the Pi Zetas opened their social season with two rush parties. These were followed by a Home-Coming luncheon and a luncheon on Mothers Day. The formal dance, which is an annual event, was given May 9.

Pi Zeta is more than proud to have as patronesses Mrs. Paul Parker, Mrs. Lawrence Hurst, Mrs. Claude E. Palmer, and Miss Floy Ruth Painter. This organization has grown as the school has grown and now proclaims a membership of twenty-five girls.

COMMERCE CLUB

THE COMMERCE CLUB was organized in 1920 under the auspices of the students of the Department of Commerce. The purpose of this organization is to promote interest in business, civic, economic, political, and professional problems connected with commercial subjects.

During the current year the programs for the monthly meetings have included a talk on filing by Edward Little of the Wabash Cabinet Works, Wabash, Indiana; a Teletype demonstration by P. W. Stone of the Postal Telegraph Company, Chicago, Illinois; and talks by Fred McClellan, local attorney; Dr. Ralph Noyer, dean of the college; and W. E. Wagoner, secretary-registrar.

The Commerce Club annually sponsors the Indiana Commercial Teachers Conference, the Indiana State High School Commercial Contest, and annual dinner-dance which follows the contest. This year the club has helped the faculty of the Department of Commerce in publishing "The Ball State Commerce Journal," a new publication devoted to the interest of commercial education in Indiana. "Commerce Comments," a quarterly publication of the department, was edited and mimeographed by the club.

Sponsors of the Commerce Club are M. E. Studebaker, B. M. Swinford, V. H. Carmichael, and Miss Esther Debra.

MUSIC CLUB

THE Music Club was organized in 1920 for the purpose of fostering a musical spirit in the school and for the purpose of cooperating with musical organizations of the city. The club studies special phases of music and gives programs illustrating the problems under discussion. The integral parts of the club are the Mens Glee Club, College Choir, Madrigal, orchestra, and band.

The Music Club sponsors the Musical Festival, held during National Music Week. Under the direction of Professor Coar, the Music Club gave the second annual musical production, "Campus Chords." The program varied from the nonsensical to the classical. The Music Club Banquet was held May 27 at the Y. W. C. A.

All students taking music courses are expected to become members of the Music Club; other students interested in music are invited to join the organization. The club is a member of the Indiana Federation of Music Clubs, and also a member of the National Federation of Music Clubs.

PRIMARY CLUB

THE Primary Club was organized May 29, 1925, with a membership of twenty-five. During the past year it had a membership composed of sixty-five per cent of all students on the primary curriculum. This organization has lived through a very successful year and has a brilliant future before it.

The purpose of the club is to promote a social atmosphere among students on the primary curriculum and to further the professional interests of its members.

Social gatherings were held regularly on the third Thursday of the month. About ninety students were entertained at a rush party sponsored by the club at the beginning of the fall term. The most prominent activity of the club during the past year was a banquet given in honor of the Burris School primary teachers. A better understanding and a closer relationship was brought about between the teachers and members of the club.

During the spring term the club brought to this campus Ruth Streitz, professor of education at the University of Cincinnati. The Primary Council of Muncie was invited to hear her.

SCIENCE CLUB

THE SCIENCE CLUB, which was organized in 1919, is one of the oldest departmental organizations on the campus. It is especially designed for science majors, but membership is open to anyone interested in science. The sponsors of the club include the science professors and instructors.

The meetings, which are held twice each month, have been well attended this year. It is customary that each division of the department be responsible for a program for some meeting during the year. Among the outstanding activities of the club are the annual banquet and the picnic for the senior members.

KALLISTA ART CLUB

KALLISTA ART CLUB was organized in May, 1923, under the sponsorship of Miss Susan B. Trane. The word Kallista is a Greek word meaning ideal beauty.

The purpose of the club is to encourage appreciation in all phases of art, to establish a means for buying art objects, and to sponsor exhibits of interest to art students and teachers.

Two etchings by Frederick Polley and drapes for the art office were bought by the club this year.

Meetings are held bi-monthly. One is a "work meeting" at which time the three sections of the art club meet with their advisors. The oil painting section meets with Francis Brown; the jewelry section, with Miss Grace Wills; the crafts section, with Miss Theo Bagwell. At the other meeting usually some individual who is well known in the field of art speaks to the club. At one of the meetings Mr. Walter Peat of the Herron Art Institute of Indianapolis was the principal speaker.

HOME ECONOMICS CLUB

THE HOME ECONOMICS CLUB was organized in the fall of 1920 and was known as the Theta Sigma Psi Club. It was reorganized in the fall of 1925 under the supervision of Miss Marguerite Debs.

The purpose of the club is to promote greater interest in the field of home economics; to furnish an opportunity, through organization, for social life; to promote better fellowship among the members; and to develop an appreciation for scientific investigation in relation to home economics problems.

The club has a membership of forty and has been, during the past year, very active. Among the activities were the preparation of a Thanksgiving basket for a poor family, the holding of an annual Christmas bazaar, the serving at the Mothers Day banquet, the preparation and serving of a Rotary luncheon, and the sending of delegates to the fall and spring meetings of the State Home economics Association.

LATIN CLUB

THE LATIN CLUB, one of the most active departmental clubs on the campus, was organized in October, 1921. The purpose of the organization is to create a spirit of fellowship among the Latin students and to foster an interest in the classics.

Meetings are held once each month. In October the club started the school year with a picnic, the annual Christmas party was given in December, and during the year Dr. Noyer and Dr. Menk entertained the club at their homes.

One of the outstanding achievements of the club this year was the presentation of a pageant, "Dido and Aeneas." This pageant, which was given in celebration of the two thousandth anniversary of the birth of Vergil, was also presented before the Latin teachers and participants in the eighth district Latin contest. It was later presented at convocation.

MATHEMATICS CLUB

THE MATHEMATICS CLUB of Ball State Teachers College was organized on this campus in the winter term of 1929 with thirty-three charter members. The purpose of the club is to create and maintain an interest in mathematics, to promote good fellowship, and to consider mathematical interests in a broader way than class work permits.

Regular meetings are held on the second Wednesday night of each month. Programs consist of talks by representative mathematics students, comments and reports by faculty sponsors, and occasionally talks by outside speakers.

CLIO CLUB

THE CLIO CLUB, which was founded in the fall of 1928, is an honorary social science organization. The club takes its name from Clio, who was the muse of history. The present organization is an outgrowth of the old Social Science Club, but the purpose of the club and the qualifications for membership are changed from those of the older organization. Membership is invitational, and only those social science majors having at least a B average for one year in the social studies are eligible for membership.

The primary purpose of the club is to bring together students and faculty members especially interested in social science, in order that they may study and discuss certain problems of a broadening nature not taken up in the classroom.

During the past year dinner meetings have been held every two weeks on Thursday evenings, and most interesting topics have been discussed in an informal way. Some of these topics included humanism, behaviorism, the need for a new constitution in Indiana, and prohibition. At certain meetings the faculty members have presented most interesting talks, and Mr. Agulanna spoke before the club on "American-Philippine Relationship." Not neglecting the social side of life, the club held a party in February and a banquet will be held later.

THE INDUSTRIAL ARTS CLUB

THE INDUSTRIAL ARTS CLUB is a departmental organization, the purpose of which is to bring the men of the department into closer contact with each other. It is the uppermost aim of industrial arts leaders to submit to the pupils of the public schools such vocational guidance as will benefit them in living a life that is of greatest value to themselves and to society.

The club holds its meetings the second week of each month. At these meetings vocational talks are given by the students and instructors of Ball State Teachers College. Any one taking work in the department is considered a member of the club.

GIRLS CLUB

THE Girls Club is an organization open to all girls on the campus.

The purpose of this club is to create and to foster a feeling of friendliness and helpfulness among the women students and between sororities as well as in sororities on the campus.

A tea in the afternoon and a party at night tarter the activities of the club this year. The outstanding event sponsored by the club this year was Mothers Day, which included convocation for mothers, a tea in the afternoon, and a banquet at night. The club also sponsored a series of matinee dances during the winter term. The club ended its activities of the year with a formal dance held at the Delaware Hotel.

SPOTLIGHT CLUB

THE Spotlight Club was organized on this campus the first of the winter term in 1923 by a small group of students who were interested in dramatics. Since that time the club has grown until it is one of the most important clubs on the campus. More than fifty students tried out for membership at the first of the fall term this year, and twenty-two were accepted.

The purpose of the club is to create an interest in dramatics. Meetings, at which programs of dramatic content are given, are held bi-monthly. The club endeavors to present at least two three-act plays and numerous one-act plays during the year. A Character Ball was the annual fete.

"Meet the Wife," by Lynn Starling, was presented the first of the winter term; "The Tristing Place," by Booth Tarkington, was given at convocation and on several occasions in Muncie. The biggest step taken this year was the presentation of Henrik Ibsen's "Ghosts" on May 22. The members of the club feel that 1929-30 has been the most successful year since the organization of the group.

YOUNG WOMEN'S CHRISTIAN ASSOCIATION

THE Young Women's Christian Association was organized on this campus April 2, 1919. Miss Viletta Baker, then dean of women, was instrumental in having the organization started. When Miss Grace DeHority became dean of women in 1922, she became faculty sponsor for the association.

The purpose of the Young Women's Christian Association is to unite young women in the desire to realize a full and creative life through a growing knowledge of God, to have a part in making this life possible for all people, and to seek to understand Jesus and to follow Him.

During the winter quarter an Institute of Human Relations was sponsored by the Y. M. C. A. and the Y. W. C. A. The speakers at this assembly were Rabbi Markowitz, William Pickens, Mark Starr, and Dr. Harry Holmes.

Delegates were sent to the annual spring Cabinet Training Council held at DePauw, April 5-6, and to the summer conference at Lake Geneva, Wisconsin.

In co-operation with the Y. M. C. A., Double Y Mixers are always conducted at the beginning of each term. A handbook is published at the first of each school year, in which is given information concerning school activities.

THE YOUNG MENS CHRISTIAN ASSOCIATION

THE Young Mens Christian Association, in its present organization, was begun in 1921 by a group of young men who felt the need of an organization on the campus that stood for clean living through the seeking of the Master. As the school progressed, so has the group of young men progressed in their activities.

Cooperating with the Y. W. C. A. the Y. M. C. A. has helped the school administration for the last two years in conducting the freshmen orientation. Also the all-college Double Y Mixer is a traditional activity carried on by these two organizations.

Feeling the need of the entire student body to know what our modern world is like, the Y. M. C. A. and Y. W. C. A. brought four noted men to the campus this winter term to give lectures. These men were Mark Starr, William Pickens, Rabbi Sam Markowitz, and Dr. Harry Holmes.

With the help of our advisors and student state secretary, W. W. Mendenhall, the Y. M. C. A. has done much in the past year to sponsor higher and cleaner living among the men students on the campus. Judging by the well-founded optimism of its members, the Y. M. C. A. should continue to help in the development of every man with whom it comes in contact.

W. A. A.

WOMEN'S ATHLETIC ASSOCIATION was organized on this campus in the fall of 1924 and later became affiliated with the national organization, Athletic Conference of American College Women, of which over a hundred universities and colleges are members.

The purpose of this association is to promote good fellowship and sportsmanship among women of the College by fostering an interest in leisure time activities.

Girls week is an outstanding event of the spring term which W. A. A. has helped to establish. During this week a May Queen is chosen by the student body, and a festival or pageant is held in her honor.

The activities sponsored by the organization are: hiking, swimming, roller skating, soccer, hockey, volley ball, basketball, tennis, bowling, track, baseball, and dancing.

LUCINA HALL

LUCINA HALL, a residence hall for women, was given to Ball State Teachers College by the Ball brothers and was dedicated February 2, 1928. The beautiful building stands as a fitting memorial and tribute to Lucina Ball, sister of the Ball brothers.

Lucina Hall is the home where one hundred young women live, work, and play together. Interesting, enjoyable, and helpful are the many activities engaged in during the year. Early in the fall, Courtesy Week, an annual affair, is sponsored by the girls. During this week all the finer things of life and those characteristics that make for better living together as a group are stressed. A formal dinner is given each term with the girls of Forest Hall as guests. During the winter months residents of Lucina and Forest Hall united in giving a series of Sunday afternoon teas. Glowing fires in the fireplaces added to the cheery atmosphere. Each Arbor Day a program is given and a tree is planted to help beautify the College campus. The parlor, decorated with palms, ferns, and baskets of Spring flowers, was the scene of the annual spring formal dance which was held April 25th. A feature of Senior Week is a senior breakfast given in co-operation with Forest Hall in honor of the senior girls of both halls. A program is given and gifts are presented to the honor guests.

To promote better living together, Lucina Hall is governed by committees and a group of officers guided by Mrs. Benjamin J. Burris, director. Two house meetings are held each month for the purpose of transacting business.

FOREST HALL

FOREST HALL is one of the oldest buildings on our campus. It has served as a dormitory for both men and women, but since 1918 it has been a dormitory for college women. The hall accommodates about forty persons. The rooms are arranged in suites of two rooms, and two women occupy each suite. The lower floor of the south wing of the hall, known as the Recreation Room, was until the fall of 1927 the College Cafeteria.

Miss Viletta Baker was the first matron of Forest Hall. She has been succeeded in turn by Miss Mary Pavay, Miss May Klipple, Mrs. Ethel Roberts, and Mrs. Jessie Trube Worden, the present matron.

EASTERN STAR

THE EASTERN STAR CLUB is a social organization composed of faculty members and students who are members of the Order of Eastern Star. Its purpose is to promote a better social feeling among the members of Eastern Star on the campus. Meetings are held each month. Some are business meetings; others dinner meetings.

The Muncie chapter was visited once; and the club was delightfully entertained with a dinner at the home of Professor and Mrs. Wilhite at the January meeting. In April a pot-luck supper was held in the Recreation Room of Forest Hall.
